Acadia National Park on Mount Desert Island in the State of Maine is still the most popular national park on the East Coast, thanks to its stunning scenery and its hiking, biking and paddling opportunities. This Appalachian Mountain Club map is one-stop shopping for touring the park. It is made of waterproof, tear-resistant paper that can survive being repeatedly folded. Its multi-color presentation is easy to read and understand. One side has the entire park on Mount Desert Island at a scale of 1:435,000. The reverse side has the more heavily used eastern half of the park at a user-friendly scale of 1:25,000, along with inset maps of the Schoodic Peninsula, Isle au Haut, and the access roads to the park through Downeast Maine. Highly recommended.

Great resource. It has some distances for trails and that makes things real easy when choosing paths. I overlaid my GPS tracks on this map and its very accurate. It comes in the back cover of a book so there is no real need to buy this separately.

Tyvek is perfect for maps. Why aren't all maps made with it? This map shows great detail and is easy to read.

good map of all the trails, and tyvek is so durable. Folded, pushed in pockets, and still totally fine. I recommend it.

Printing a map on Tyvek is a great idea. Unlike a paper map it won't be damaged by water and it really hard to rip.

Great quality, rugged and detailed. It was consulted several times a day and poured over at night to plan the next days hikes, and bike rides.

Durable. Compared to a paper map, it's a no brainer. How can you go wrong with this one? You can't.
